

Hello, my name is Kate Bode.

I'm an influencer, model, and singer with an audience of 51,000. I create content for brands, including videos, Reels, photos, and stories. I also promote your product and seamlessly integrate it into my recommendations, making it feel natural rather than paid advertising. My followers are a financially capable audience based in the USA (Los Angeles, New York, Miami). Attached to this email are photos of my statistics and examples of my past clients and collaborations.

I propose that we begin our collaboration to increase both the recognition of your brand and to create high-quality content for your already well-known brand.

I work closely with a photographer/videographer who helps me create quality content. Discover our pricing and special offers. Personalized service for every client.
